FALL IS FATAL TO JOHN H. LEVI

He Dies Three Hours After Being
Hurled From Top of Graham
Annex School Building.

ARM AND SHOULDER BROKEN

Bolt on Derrick Loosens and Weight of Stone Pulls Him From the Structure.

The fall of sixty-five feet from the roof of the new school building under course of construction east of the Graham school, proved fatal to John H. Levi, a laborer employed there. Levi lived about three hours after the accident, passing away at his home in West First street at six o'clock last evening.

Immediately following the accident it was stated that Levi had a good chance of recovering and it was not believed that he was fatally hurt but he was injured internally, besides sustaining a broken left arm and broken right shoulder. The left arm was broken in three places. In falling he landed on his left side, his left arm and knee receiving the force of the fall.

The loosening of a bolt, which helped hold a large derrick to the roof of the building is given as the cause of Levi falling. At the time he was engaged in pulling a large stone to the top of the building. The derrick was stationed on the roof and near the edge. When the bolt came out the derrick was thrown out of line. It was so sudden that Levi was thrown over the side of the building. Witnesses stated that he was thrown up and down the building a distance of ten feet, making him fall in all a total of seventy feet to the ground.

Frank Gilson, who was helping Levi at the lever on the derrick, had a narrow escape from a similar fate. He was thrown in the opposite direction from Levi and landed on the inside of the building. Gilson escaped with a few bruises. Levi had been employed on the new building ever since it was started.

He was forty-six years old and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jude Levi. He is survived by his widow and one son, besides his parents and several brothers and sisters. The funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the late residence. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

SAWDUST IGNITES BUT FIRE'S AVERTED

Persons Living Over Fred Cochran's
Grocery Smell Smoke and Discover
Blaze in Time.

SMOULDS ALONG ALL NIGHT

Improvised cuspidors made of boxes filled with sawdust came near proving costly to Fred Cochran, owner of a grocery at 105 West First street, last night. The boxes were stationed around a stove and after nine o'clock last night the sawdust ignited. When discovered this morning at four o'clock the fire had burned through the floor and the flames were spreading rapidly. The store was filled with smoke. An hour longer and the place would have been in flames.

When the store was closed last night at nine o'clock the sawdust in the boxes was dampened but the stove was too hot and it smouldered along most of the night. People living over the store noticed smoke but were unable to locate it. Finally at four o'clock this morning they could stand it no longer and investigated. Several holes were burned through the floor and directly under the floor were several baskets which would have furnished good kindling for the fire. Mr. Cochran has done away with the improvised cuspidors.

CAR LOAD TO BE SENT FROM HERE

C. G. Clark & Sons Receive Word
That Northwestern Miller Will Make up the Deficiency.

HAS SPECIAL FUND FOR THAT

250 Barrels or 1,000 49-Pound Bags
Will be Shipped in One Car
About December 20.

A car load of flour will be shipped from Rushville and vicinity to feed the destitute people of Belgium after all.

Arrangements have been completed by C. G. Clark & Sons whereby a special Belgian fund contributed to The Northwestern Miller, which founded the relief plan under which the local fund was raised, will finish out the car load to be shipped from here.

There were approximately a hundred and eighty-five barrels contributed to the Daily Republican's fund. Two hundred and fifty barrels are counted a car load in The Northwestern Miller's plan of consignment. This is an even thousand sacks of forty-nine pounds each, the kind in which the flour given in the local fund will be shipped.

So it will be noted that the contribution here is just sixty-five barrels short of a car load. C. G. Clark noticed that The Northwestern Miller had a fund which was to be used for filling out short car loads all over the United States. Mr. Clark communicated with the trade journal at Minneapolis, Minn., and apprised them of the situation here. He received a reply at once saying that the matter had been left to C. B. Jenkins, of the Noblesville Milling company, and president of the Indiana Millers association. Mr. Jenkins is overseeing the distribution of the fund in Indiana.

As soon as he received this word, Mr. Clark promptly called Mr. Jenkins and told him that sixty-five barrels were needed for a car load here and that he would sell them at five dollars a barrel if Mr. Jenkins desired to spend any of the fund here. Mr. Jenkins said that was as cheap as the flour could possibly be made and that since there was still money in The Northwestern Miller fund, Mr. Clark should make enough flour to finish out the car load and draw on him for the money.

Mr. Clark expects to have the shipment made by the last of this week. He informed The Northwestern Miller a few days ago that the flour could be loaded and ready for shipping by the tenth, but he received a reply that it would be impossible to handle the car from here before the twentieth and that the definite date for shipping would be fixed later.

The mills would likely have had the flour made by tonight were it not for a breakdown at the mill yesterday which caused some loss of time. Mr. Clark announced that he would be glad to have any persons interested in seeing the flour call at the mill any time and inspect it. The flour is being stored ready for shipment just as fast as it is made. A number of people called at the mills yesterday to see the flour.

SHOPPERS ARE BUSY BUYING

Christmas Trade Opens Up With Vigor When Snow Brings Thoughts of Yuletide

WINDOWS ARE ATTRACTIVE

Shoppers Find That Preparing List of Gifts They Expect to Buy is Very Satisfactory

With the weather conditions seasonable, Christmas trade is opening up in Rushville with vigor, according to reports from a number of retail stores here. The first real winter weather put in its appearance yesterday when snow began to fall. The fall was not heavy, but the snow is persistent and is beginning to accumulate in spite of a temperature that causes much of it to melt.

Several times the human weather "vanes" have predicted that the Indian summer had passed and that winter had "set in" for sure, but each time the balmy days have returned. It seems that they have disappeared for sure now. There will be no more signs of new life in vegetation, no more reports of leaves budding.

When this snow first came, the weather man did not predict that there would be enough to use the snow shovel that you planned to make last summer and didn't. But today he says it is going to be colder and that there will be more snow, so you may as well settle down for a long, hard winter.

Christmas shoppers are putting in their appearance. Yesterday afternoon a majority of the Rushville stores were doing a good business for Rushville people are beginning to realize that Christmas is just around the corner and that it is time to get gifts for father and mother and all the rest of the relatives and friends. There is a way of doing Christmas shopping that is growing more popular each year. Merchants who advertise a list of appropriate gifts for different members of the family are hearing from that kind of advertisement. Persons select from the list the gifts they want to buy, prepare their own list and then go buy.

Rushville merchants deserve credit for the attractive showing of Christmas goods in their various lines. Practically all of the show windows are suggestive of the season. They contain displays that are bound to appeal to the eyes of shoppers who have turned their thoughts to Christmas.

More and more each year shoppers are realizing the value of selecting their Christmas gifts before the lines are broken. At the same time they avoid another very undesirable feature, the usual rush that goes hand in hand with late shopping. It has been the custom—it is growing less every year, however—for shoppers to wait until the very last moment, often Christmas eve, to make their gift selections.

But now all interests are co-operating to bring about earlier Christmas buying. The postoffice department issues instructions concerning early mailing of Christmas presents which brings forcibly before the minds of the people the fact that they can save themselves lots of undesirable rush and bustle by mailing as well as buying early.

At the United Presbyterian church Sunday evening an illustrated lecture on "Pilgrim's Progress" with over seventy slides will be given. The lecture will be given in place of the regular sermon.

Administration Declares Moving of Artillery and Cavalry Has No Significance.

STATEMENT ISSUED TODAY

(By United Press.)

Washington, Dec. 9.—Denial was made at the white house today that the movement of artillery and cavalry at Naco, Arizona indicated any change in the waiting policy of the administration. It was stated that the movement was merely precautionary.

The white house statement says: "It has been thought wise to strengthen the forces at Naco because of the restlessness of the contending factions across the border in failing to control the direction of their fire. Of course no aggressive action is contemplated."

GAS COMPANIES SUBMIT RECORDS

Wrong Impression Gains Credence
Concerning Hearing of Petitions
For Rate Increase.

The wrong impression seems to have resulted from the hearing before the Public Service Commission on the petitions of the Peoples Natural Gas company and the Central Fuel Gas company for an increase in rates regarding the submission of evidence. It was stated yesterday that the gas companies were not permitted to show the earnings or dividends declared but this is not true as both companies submitted a complete report taken from their books of all earnings and expenditures including all dividends as far back as there was any record.

The reports were given in as evidence although no testimony was offered as this was considered useless as the record was taken from the books of the companies. The records are not complete but since the reorganization of the Peoples company in 1908 a complete record was to be had and this was given the commission. It was on the suggestion of Judge Clark that this was done.

SEES NOTHING BUT OPTIMISM

Secretary of Treasury, in Annual Report, Today Says Country Can
Look to Future in Confidence

ADMITS PANIC THREATENED

Estimates for Appropriations for Department Show Increase of $12,000,000 Over Last Year

(By United Press.)

Washington, Dec. 9.—Optimism prevades the business world. The country can look with confidence to the future of its trade, commerce and industry. Such, in brief, is the optimistic outlook of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, as given in his annual report made public today.

He admitted that the country might easily have been involved in a "panic of cataclysmic proportions" in the dark days after the outbreak of the European war. But he held that the ship of finance steered clear through troubled waters because of the basic economic strength of the country and the "patriotism of its people in every class and walk of life."

Praise, too, for co-operation of "Big Business" in the perilous days was given in unstinted measure.

"Confidence has been restored and specie payments have been maintained in the face of the world," said McAdoo. "The general revival of business throughout the country is the best evidence that confidence has returned."

That the treasury department performed a gigantic task in aiding a distorted and dangerous financial situation was evidenced from McAdoo's review of the department's action in the crisis. Issue of emergency currency, amendment of the federal reserve act, cotton and grain conferences, international exchange adjustments, creation of a semi-public cotton pool—these and other undertakings, promptly managed, overcome enormous difficulties.

Of the federal reserve banking system, McAdoo predicts great things. He says:

"I am pleased to say that notwithstanding the short time allowed to perfect the organization of the banks their officers and directors have responded with commendable zeal and vigor and as a result, the Federal reserve banks were opened for business in each of the Federal reserve cities on the 16th of November, 1914. I believe that these banks are going to exert a far-reaching influence for good upon the banking system and business of the country."

"It is not my purpose to discuss the merits of the Federal reserve act.

It is sufficient to say that it gives promise of being the most important piece of legislation in the substantial benefits that it will confer upon the people of the country, that has been enacted since the Civil War. I look forward with the greatest confidence to its effects upon American enterprise and American business. I believe that it will stabilize credit, prevent those extreme fluctuations in interest rates and in supply of credits and money, from which the country has so frequently suffered, and that it will assure that legitimate expansion of responsive credit facilities so long imperatively demanded in the interest of American commerce, enterprise, industry both at home and abroad."

McAdoo contended that to preserve the sound condition of the Treasury, it would be well to extend the operation of the "war tax."

"I venture to suggest that this limitation to December 31, 1915 should be removed and the act amended so as to provide that it shall remain in force until peace is restored in Europe, that fact to be determined by a proclamation of the president," McAdoo said in this connection. "This is all the more necessary because even with the return of peace it will be a long time, in all probability before the belligerent nations will be able to restore their productive power and foreign commerce, and even then the process must be gradual."

Turning to the new activity of the Treasury department in handling war risk insurance, McAdoo said that the bureau is co-operating successfully with the customs division. He said it is "proving a most useful agency for the protection and promotion of American commerce, since American vessels are now able to obtain insurance which they would not otherwise be able to get and without which vessels would not sail and shipments could not be made."

In commenting on the operation of the Federal reserve system, McAdoo said he was "extremely gratified" to report that banks throughout the country have changed from opposition to a hearty co-operation.

He held it a serious defect to have state banks operating under a variety of state laws, and felt that if all of these state banks could be brought into the federal reserve system, it would result in a "great and lasting benefit" to the American people.

The Secretary's report left figures to speak for themselves concerning the new Democratic tariff. The report said:

"When the tariff law was written it was estimated to produce from customs in its first year $270,000,000. There was actually produced in the year from customs $292,320,014.51 or $22,320,014.51 in excess of the estimates, which took into account the estimate revenues for three months under the old law and nine months under the new law. It was intended by the tariff act of October 3, 1913 to remove the duties from certain necessities of life and lower the duties on others.

"To make up the deficit caused by the loss in revenue from customs the income-tax provision were enacted as a part of the new act and the provisions for a tax on corporations were amended.

The tax on individual incomes amounted to $28,253,534.85 and the tax on corporations amounted to $43, 127,739.89.

McAdoo held that the new tariff act not only justified the estimates, but as a whole produced during its first year more than the revenue measures which it superseded.

On the other hand, the income tax produced less than its framers estimated for the first year of its operation.

"Notwithstanding," the secretary said, "the results from the income tax law for the first ten months of its existence have been satisfactory. The administration of a new law of this character encounters great obstacles at the outset. In the first place, the people of the country, unaccustomed to an income tax, must be educated to the law. This takes time."

That many people dodged the tax was the frank opinion of McAdoo. Many failed to make any returns and the secretary felt it is necessary to make investigations to determine persons guilty of tax dodging.

McAdoo suggested revision of the law by which every person with a gross income of $3,000.00 or more annually make a return, instead of, as at present, making a return on a net income of $3,000.00 or more.

The secretary recommended building of two more revenue cutters for Pacific coast work and repeated his previous recommendation for passage of the Coast Guard bill to consolidate the revenue cutter and life saving services.

He further urged that congress promptly provide isolation of lepers in the national leprosarium.

While tariff receipts of the future are dependent largely on the war, the departments estimate of ordinary receipts of next year was $728,000,000, and the estimates of expenditures, including Panama canal payments were $10,000,000. more. Carefully pruned, the estimates for appropriation were $732,000,000, an increase over last year of $12,000,000.

SAYS LIVES ARE "SACRIFICED"

Secretary of Commerce, in Annual Report, Today Emphasizes Need of More Funds

TO SURVEY DANGEROUS COAST

Attitude of Government Like Rich Man Refusing to Give Children Life Necessities

(By United Press.)

Washington, Dec. 9.—The need of more funds for surveying the dangerous coasts of the United States was emphasized in the second annual report of the secretary of commerce made public today. The introduction sets forth the places maintained by the coast and geodetic survey and continues:

"This Survey is the oldest scientific service of the Government. It is also the greatest of its kind in the world, and the efficiency of its work is as marked as its extent; it is so recognized by other nations. Its methods and standards are approved by all who have accurate knowledge of the subject. There are single features of its work which are greater than the combined services of a similar nature of like departments in other great nations. Comparison, for example, of the tremendous task of surveying and charting the coasts of Alaska and the Aleutian Islands with that involved in the coast surveys of France or in the coast surveys of France or Great Britain will show to anyone the burden which this service so ably bears. Its duties in the Philippine Islands are of greater extent and importance, alike locally, nationally and internationally, than are those of the entire like service of many another great nation.

"The duty of the Coast Survey deals first with humanity and second with commerce. Its work comes foremost in the protection of life and property along our shores and in opening the way for trade; yet after an experience of 20 months I affirm without fear of successful contradiction, that the past attitude of the Government toward the Coast and Geodetic Survey, if the magnitude of its task be considered and the quality of its work be weighed, has been both with respect to its housing, its vessels, and to the necessary apparatus for its serious tasks, and particularly its regards the Pacific coast and Alaska, like that of a wealthy and prosperous man refusing to give to his loyal children the necessities of life.

"I speak of this in detail later. It is thus placed in the forefront of my report and with intended emphasis that this Department may not have upon its conscience and its record the responsibility for the loss of human life and property that has ensued from penuriousness respecting this service in the past and will ensue unless this policy is changed.

These are strong words. They are amply justified. Their truth can not be successfully challenged. Our citizens have been drowned (31 in one case) and both private and public property repeatedly lost, because the United States Government has not more rapidly provided the force and apparatus with which to survey and chart the dangerous waters of our Pacific and particularly of our Alaskan coast."

Appertaining to the "sacrifice" of lives because of inefficient service, the report continues:

"The American people do not, in my belief, understand that their Government is obliged for lack of money to buy old, secondhand vessels and use them in dangerous waters, at a high cost for repair and for services for which they were not designed. Neither the American people nor Congress desire that lives shall continue to be sacrificed when measures can be taken which will stop the sacrifice at trifling cost. In my belief, both Congress and the American people are willing to spend for needful work well done whatever that work requires for its reasonable performance. It is in this spirit that I shall lay before Congress a gain the estimates for this Department for the coming fiscal year.

"There is so much talk about governmental extravagance that some of the people hardly understand that some of their services are run upon a basis that it would be lavish to call frugal. They do not want their officers who must stay at sea that be obliged to eat and sleep and wash in the same room as they are now obliged to do. They are just as anxious that their seamen shall have sufficient room and air in which to sleep as they are that their children shall be provided with air in school-houses. It has been suggested as perhaps a kindly criticism of administrative officers that they are properly enthusiastic over their own work, but no such disclaimer will do away with hard facts. When a steamer must do work at sea that has not sufficient power for steering in heavy weather, the risk and the responsibility can not lie upon this Department, but must rest with those to whom, when the facts are plainly stated, is given the honorable duty of providing funds that such conditions shall no longer exist."

Indianapolis is especially fortunate in having secured for a week's engagement, opening Monday evening, December 14th at the English opera house and playing matinee Wednesday and Saturday, the big Klaw & Erlanger production of "The Little Cafe." This is one of the biggest productions on the road this season and its engagement here will attract parties from every town within a radius of fifty miles of Indianapolis. "The Little Cafe" has just the exquisite ingredients for an evening's good entertainment via the musical comedy line. The music is dainty, catchy and has a substantial rhythmic volume; the book is amusing, the lyrics are bright, snappy and cohesive with the music; the company is very clever, and dash, vim, alertness and color are found everywhere, particularly in the chorus, which is the smartest and prettiest female aggregation ever seen in a Klaw & Erlanger production.

HOW THIS MOTHER GOT STRENGTH

Mrs. Eddy Had Only Three in Family, Yet Was So Nervous and Worn Out Could Not Do the Work.

Fair Haven, Vt.—"I was so nervous and run-down that some days I could not do my housework for my family of three. My nerves were very weak and I had pains around my heart. I had doctored for about two years without help. One day a Vinol booklet was left at our door and I decided to try it, and thanks to Vinol my health has been restored, so I can do my work once more.

"I have told my neighbors about Vinol and shall always praise it for what it has done for me."—Mrs. JAMES H. EDDY, Fair Haven, Vt.

What Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil did for Mrs. Eddy it will do for every nervous, weak, run-down man or woman in this vicinity.

Vinol creates an appetite, re-establishes perfect digestion and makes good pure blood. In this natural manner it builds up the run-down, weak and debilitated, and replaces weakness with strength.

Try a bottle with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

Mental Capacity of Child

The duties of a physician no longer consist simply of the dispensing of pills and powders from a pair of saddle bags as in the days of our fathers. He is now frequently called upon to give an opinion as to whether a certain water is safe for drinking purposes, whether a given article of food is suitably adapted to the needs of the human economy to furnish fuel and energy to sustain life.

He may be called upon to give advice of a technical nature as to the sanitary construction of homes or workshops, or advice which calls for a knowledge of engineering as in the drainage of ponds and ditches for the prevention of malaria.

In addition to these duties he may be called upon to render an opinion as to the mental status of an individual especially in cases of a legal nature in which a question arises as to the mental capacity of a person making his last will and testament, or whether an individual was of sound or unsound mind at the time he is alleged to have committed some crime.

A further responsibility has been placed upon physicians as brought out in an article on Mental Deficiency in a recent issue of the Public Health Reports which deals with certain public health aspects of mental deficiency with reference to this condition among school children. It is pointed out that while school children and others may be suspected of being mentally defective, it will fall to the lot of the physician to make the final decision which will classify these persons as feeble minded.

The disposition of these cases, that is, whether they shall be placed in special classes on separate institutions will largely depend on the judgement of the medical examiner.

Increasing attention is being paid to the question of mental capacity among school children in relation to school work. When a child is found to be backward in school there will usually be found some cause for his lack of progress and in determining the cause it is necessary to inquire thoroughly into his physical and mental condition. By this means it may often be possible to institute corrective and preventive measures which will decrease the ill effects of feeble mindedness and enable the backward child to reason and to care for himself. Reasoning power in the normal person enables him to meet new situations and solve new problems. And it is this ability to reason and to meet the various problems of life as they arise which distinguishes the normal from the defective mind. The new physician must be able to estimate the varying degrees of defection in order to advise hygienic measures that will contribute to their reduction.

Just now when the people are about to be called upon to dig up and pay the new democratic party war tax, this editorial from the Philadelphia Inquirer is timely: "It is the irony of fate that the democratic party, which came into power pledged to a reduction of taxes, will be obliged to levy the heaviest special tax laid since the Civil war. If the tariff had been let alone the treasury would be in such funds that new mission finds that the wage question has no material relation to a girl's downfall.

taxes would not have been needed, at least for some time to come. Think of the millions on sugar which we threw away! Think of the wool duties we might now enjoy! In fact, the situation is desperate for our democratic theorists, since in the face of a defensive political campaign they are compelled to levy the most unpopular taxes ever laid in times of peace. Every man who pays a war tax this fall will know that it might have been unnecessary. But for this depression of American industry by the Underwood tariff

Hoosier History In Tabloid

HOOSIER HISTORY IN TABLOID.

Prepared by the United Press from records in the state library.

Hoosiers still celebrate the Battle of Tippecanoe and visit the famous battlefield near Lafayette. It was the decisive struggle between the Indians and the invading white men and marked the triumph of the latter. This was the most famous of a number of struggles that meant safety of death to the settlers.

This battle came in 1811 just prior to the war with England. The British had been encouraging the enmity of the Indians hoping thus to handicap the Americans. Under the leadership of Tecumseh and his brother, The Prophet matters finally culminated. There were many conferences between General Harrison and Tecumseh which did not adjust matters. The forces gathered for the deciding struggle under The Prophet this country would face the future with complacency."

There is something refreshing about the report of Wisconsin advice committee which was appointed by the last legislature. After fifteen months of study and investigation, it finds that the greatest cause of intoxicating liquor. All other agencies who have made a study of the subject have lost sight of this prominent factor and have stoutly affirmed that low wages sends more girls to ruin than any other one cause. But the Wisconsin commission finds that the wage question has no material relation to a girl's downfall.

When you have a piece of good news, an accident, a fire, or something of the sort, your first act should be to telephone the Republican so that every other person can know about it too.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

RIDICULE ONLY DEFENSE.

(Huntington Herald.)

Thomas Taggart, king of French Lick and Indiana Democracy, and Stephen B. Fleming, former brewmaster in the Indiana legislature, rush into the arena to defend the thirteen men that were indicted recently by a Marion county grand jury for illegal actions during the last term of the legislature. Yet the best defense that they can put up is an attempt to ridicule the action of the jury, and attempt to question the hard common sense of six Indianapolis citizens.

At the same time there are several others under arrest on federal charges. These are the allies from Terre Haute. Next thing we know T. T. and Steve will be trying to tell us that District Attorney Frank Dailey is crazy, and that there is no such thing as Taylorville in Terre Haute.

Some of the Democratic newspapers of the state tactily admit that "the last legislature, being strongly Democratic, had to have more places to satisfy the brethren, and probably went a little too far."

And then they try to tell us that they have reformed, and will not go so far this time. Hands on your pocketbooks !!!

on one side and General Harrison on the other.

The whites had suffered innumerable outrages at the hands of the hostile Indians. One of the most detested practices of the Indians was that of capturing children and adopting them into the tribe. In comparison with the most noted instance, the kidnapping of Katherine Winters (many believe she was kidnapped) last year fades in interest. Frances Slocum was stolen at the age of 5 years and was restored to her relatives only when she was an old woman.

Among the Indian chieftans whose names are recorded in this period Prophet, Tecumseh and Little Turtle were such men as Harmar, St. Clair Anthony Wayne and General Harrison. This was about the time the present outlines of Indiana were formed.

Spinal Column, Where the Cause of Disease is Located

CHIROPRACTIC
(KI-RO-PRAC-TIC)

The scientific method of removing the cause of all disease by adjusting to the normal position the misplaced (subluxated) vertebrae of the spinal column. The subluxated vertebra cause pressure on the Great Trunk Nerves which emanate between them, thus shutting off the transmission of vital current from the brain to some organ or part of the body to which they lead, leaving it in a weakened condition, subject to disease, causing over 95 per cent of all sickness and suffering known to mankind. Chiropractic adjustments remove the pressure (the cause of disease), restores the vital energy and health returns. I use the hands only. I ask no questions; simply analyze the spine and tell you every place you are affected.

Appendicitis Rheumatism, Nervousness, Asthma, Neuralgia, Deafness, Loss of Voice, Insomnia, Constipation, Bed Wetting, Headaches, Paralysis, Hay Fever, Catarrh, Goiter and affections of the Eyes, Nose, Throat, Lungs, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, (Heart), Bowels, Bladder, Kidneys and reproductive organs quickly and permanently disappear under Chiropractic adjustments properly given. Spinal Curvature quickly corrected. If you are sick or suffering in any way; if you have tried many physicians, specialists and medicines to no avail, then it is your plain duty to consult a chiropractor.

(Written for United Press.)

New York, Dec. 9.—National League magnates assembled at the Waldorf yesterday in annual conclave, with President John K. Tener in the chair.

Two important questions were expected to hold the spotlight during the best part of the sessions. One was the proposed extinction of Charles F. Murphy and his mentor, Charles P. Taft, as far as baseball is concerned. The other was the funeral arrangements and former burial of the Federal League. Both questions were expected to furnish no small amount of work.

It was realized that Murphy and Taft, with about $700,000 (valuation approximated) worth of Chicago National League stock in their possession, would be difficult personages to extinguish. After the fiasco of last year when the National Leaguers solemnly announced Murphy's extinction and the latter recently bobbed up with great handfuls of Cub stock, the magnates were determined to settle the question, this time fairly and openly, for all time. There was plenty of talk about the Waldorf corridors, and in other pots that are not so dry, that Murphy must go some time and it might as well be now. The gossip was that the magnates might compromise by ridding the league of Murphy in some way, and making no fight on Taft, who, by the way, has a pretty strong following in the league.

As to the interment planned for the Feds, even more trouble is expected. Despite the fact that the league has been pronounced dead for over a year, there were evidences of life remaining in the corpse today in the shape of Fed scouts who haunted the Waldorf to entrap and ensnare any of the meandering baseball players who are flocking about the National League magnates in droves, as they always do on these yearly gala occasions. That a complete change in the plan of battle for next season will be promulgated seemed certain. It was the program to adopt some mode of warfare to which the American League magnates, who are due to meet here soon, would agree without squabbling and turmoil.

One thing is certain. Any agreement that might be reached between Organized Baseball and the Federal League (we say might be) will have to have the sanction of Dave Fultz Players' Fraternity, or there will be more trouble stirred up. A great many folks have spoofed Fultz and his methods and purposes but, however, small, he is a noticeable factor in baseball. His worst enemies also must admit that there is quite a good-sized working majority of gray matter in his head. He has the courage of his conviction, and thinks he's dead right in organizing the baseball players. The fact that such a man as Christy Mathewson is a member of the fraternity stamps it at once as being anything but a snide organization. The Fraternity is growing stronger every year and looks like it's here to stay.

ATHLETICS ARE PUZZLE TO FANS

Mack's Team for Next Season Furnish Great Speculation for Winter League Session.

NEW LINEUP IS NOT KNOWN

Young Blood on Hurling Corps Very Likely to be Given Chance and Schang Will Remain

By HAL SHERIDAN

(Written for United Press.)

New York, Dec. 9.—One of the really interesting pastimes of the present Winter League scheduled is picking a team for the 1915 Athletics. Ever since the depressing—not to say honestly discouraging—defeats administered by a tall Georgian whose name we shall not mention for fear of giving him too much publicity for his vaudeville venture, the new lineup of the Mackmen has been chosen by the experts. And the baseball experts are almost as numerous this year as the military experts and give forth their opinion with equal abandon. Sufficient to remark at this time, Connie Mack has the final say in the matter.

A few things, however, may be predicted. One is that Wallie Schang will continue at the old stand. The second is that the young blood on the Mack hurler corps will be very much to the front. The third is that a new face will be seen in the outfield. The fourth is that the Athletics will be more popular in 1915 than they have been in the last few years—which is not saying much. The fifth idea is not such a lead-pipe cinch but there is a strong probability that someone else will be hovering around third base in place of Home Run Baker.

The Maryland slugger would like a change of climate, it is said. He had a bad slump, comparatively speaking, last Summer and many were unkind enough to say that the former idol's feet had turned to clay—which is a literary way of saying that he is not what he used to be. It would be a brave man who would try to name his successor, however.

When Croup Comes Treat Externally

The old system of dosing delicate little stomachs with nauseous drugs and opium syrups is wrong and harmful. Try the external treatment—Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve. Just rub a little over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The warmth of the body releases vapors of Pine Tar, Menthol, Thymol, and Eucalyptol, that loosen the choking phlegm and ease the difficult breathing immediately. One application at bedtime insures a sound night's sleep. Vick's is better than internal medicines for all forms of cold troubles. Three sizes—25c, 50c and $1.00.

Make Your Own Cough Medicine

The difference in buying one of the most efficient, latest and up-to-date cough and cold remedies (which can be made at home), and buying the old, ordinary, ready-made kinds, is that with the new one you get all pure medicine, instead of buying a large proportion of sugar and water, besides paying for bottles, corks and labels; and it usually requires 2 to 3 bottles of the old-fashioned, ready-made remedies to break up a cough or cold, while 2 ounces (50c worth) of Schiffmann's new Concentrated Expectant, which is so strongly concentrated that 2 ounces, when mixed at home with simply one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water, make a full pint (16 ounces) of excellent cough remedy, and will be sufficient to probably last the whole family the entire winter. It positively contains no chloroform, opium, morphine or other narcotics, and is so pleasant that children like to take it. Arrangements have been made with drug store named below to refund the money to any person who finds it does not give perfect satisfaction, or if it is not found the very best remedy ever used for coughs, colds, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and hoarseness. You will be the sole judge, and under the positive guarantee by these druggists, absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy. For sale here by

COMMITTEE TO EVOLVE SYSTEM

To Work Out Plan of Taxation That Will be Equitable to All Classes and Interests.

TO BE APPOINTED TODAY

Expected That State Association Will Appoint Capable and Representative Men.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Dec. 9.—When the executive committee of the Indiana State Tax Association met here today the most important business was the appointment of a committee representing all classes of property in the state, subject to taxation. The plan is that this committee shall evolve a system of taxation that will be just and equitable to all the taxable interests of the state. This committee with the purpose here outlined was provided for in the resolution adopted by the tax conference here last week.

There is a general feeling following the tax conference that Indiana is due for a try at tax reform. This is due largely to the fact that while the conference was strictly non-partisan in nature, there was at the same time a liberal portion of administration forces working in the conference, Governor Ralston presided at the first session.

The personnel of the committee to be appointed is believed to be of considerable importance, and there is no doubt that the committee appointed by the executive committee of the association will be a capable and representative one.

The results of the tax conference have been summarized as showing that the present levying, collection and disbursement of taxes in Indiana is unjust, inequitable and "out of joint with present economic and industrial conditions." Speaking of today's meeting Dr. W. A. Rawles of Bloomington, president of the association said:

"We recognize the responsibility of having presented to the state the defects of the present methods of taxation in Indiana and of having brought forth such a remonstrance against the existing conditions. The demand of the conference was for a constructive program, and I feel certain that we can assure the state that we shall bring to this task of evolving a system of taxation that will be just and equitable, the best minds and thought in the state.

"Nothing short of this is demanded, and we are impressed with the fact. Undoubtedly the intent of the conference was that this be done so as to be of service in guiding the legislature this year. It is certain now that many tax bills are to be presented, and the demand of the state conference is that we have adequate and well thought out legislation, if there is to be any."

Rushville people have used Doan's and Rushville people recommend Doan's, the Kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer. Why run the risk of dangerous kidney ills—fatal Bright's disease. Here's Rushville proof. Investigate it.

RIGID ECONOMY TO BE REGIME

Will Result Irrespective of What Administration Does as Some of The "Boys" Are Out

WILL BE PERSONAL MATTER

Financial Readjustment Necessary On Going Back to Private Life. Gay Times Ahead

BY BURTON K. STANDISH

(Written for United Press.)

Washington, Dec. 9.—Rigid economy will be the regime in some quarters in congress the next few months. This will be irrespective of what the administration may do toward economy. This particular brand will be strictly personal, and for the most part will prevail on the Democratic side.

The answer is—the recent elections. Quite a few of the boys are going back to the quiet of private life. Many of the familiar figures in the social life of the capital, must now retrench. No more can they frequent the tango parlors, nor do much entertaining on their own account.

For going back to private life means a financial readjustment. They want to know what they can of their $7500 annual salary in the brief time remaining. Some of them need a "nest egg" to carry them over until they can re-establish themselves in the ordinary walks of life, and that's the answer for the retrenchment that is now going on with a vengeance among legislators.

It's a gay life, this being a congressman. More interesting than the proverbially interesting life of the newspaperman. But—take it from any congressman—it costs a pile of money to keep up appearance in Washington—and then, too, it costs another nice piece of change to run for office. Statemets now on file show that the boys who were beaten and the boys who come back victorious all put out a penny. In every case, practically, it was bound to nick the ordinary congressman's roll—and if he isn't coming back for the session in the fall of 1915, he has just simply got to put on the reverse action. And he—or rather they—are doing it.

The congressman who used to find Washington's swellest hotels hardly good enough for their heavy funds, now are beginning to realize that some of the quiet little restaurants—with neither fancy menus nor fancy prices—are just the size for their bank accounts. Moreover, the gentlemen who were hailed as social favorites, either through personal popularity or through the influence of lavish entertaining, are beginning to learn that home sweet home really, after all, is a nice sort of a place—even though a bit quiet at times.

Some of them, too, are beginning to feel that perhaps an automobile is a luxury instead of a necessity. Yes, it's a hard winter.

But there's another side to the story. Some of the best little two-fisted spenders Washington has ever known are coming back to the next session of congress. They will loosen up their change, and the present restricted flow of currency will be again at floodtide. Intimes past, they were notable for their free-handed liberal way of doing things for their own enjoyment and that of their friends. All reports concerning the "Come Back" club indicate that their dispositions have not changed.

One of the most notable of this returning coterie of good fellows and good spenders is Representative William McKinley. His excursions to Norfolk and vicinity linger in the memory of many Washingtonians as real live affairs. "The Jamestown Survivors" is an organization that sprang up from the passengers on his excursion to Jamestown. They have congregated here since McKinley quit politics and every one of them is looking forward to his return—and the "good old days."

Then, too, there is Dan Lafean of Pennsylvania, who is coming back to the House.

"Dan" is known as a royal good fellow. He thinks nothing at all of getting up a dinner for one hundred of his friends, and they are always gay parties. They aren't really society functions, for Lafean is democratic. He picks out newspapermen and others for his friends on his big banquets.

And "Uncle Joe" Cannon will be among those present. Washington has been comparatively dead and dull since the old Republican war horse quit his favorite haunts. The green table in his private card room will again have its devotees—and things will be looking up again in the village.

LADIES MUSICALE WILL GIVE BENEFIT

Date is Set for Monday, January 18, But Nature of Entertainment is Not Divulged

OLDEST CLUB IN RUSHVILLE

The Ladies Musicale, the oldest club in Rushville, announced today that it had made plans for an entertainment to be held Monday, January 18, the proceeds to be used as a benefit. The nature of the program to be given nor what the money is to be used for were not divulged, but it is hinted that it will be a worthy cause. Everyone is asked to fix that date in their memory and leave it open for the Ladies Musicale entertainment, because it will be one of the best ever given here. Every person is urged to help boost the project by preparing now to attend.

The Ladies Musicale was organized in 1886 and has had a great many members, some of whom have moved to other places and some of whom have died. Some few of the charter members are yet very active in the organization. The club, like all others, has had its high and low tide of membership and activity. It is at present full of enthusiasm for it has active members not only in Rushville but in Connorsville, Carthage, Arlington, Manilla, Moscow, Gowdy and Raleigh. There are women in some other places who would like to join but train facilities make it impossible for them to attend the meetings regularly.

The Central Supply Company of Indianapolis has filed suit against James T. Irvine, Jr. and James T. Irvine, Sr., on an account demanding $125.

Instructions Must be Obeyed or Mail of That Character Will go to Dead Letter.

SEVERAL AT OFFICE HERE

Merchants having in stock post-cards of the tinsel variety will do their customers a favor when the latter purchase such cards to tell them that it is necessary to place the cards in envelopes, seal the latter, and then after properly addressing it place a two cent stamp on the missive. Such action will assure the sender a safe and prompt delivery of the inclosed post card at the proper destination.

Uncle Sam has ruled that no tinsel cards are to be handled by his employees unless the cards are in an envelope. The reason for such order is the fact that the tinsel is considered dangerous to the health of the employees, as the substance of which the tinsel is composed, if penetrating the flesh or working into a cut on an employee, is sufficient to cause blood poisoning.

The tinsel cards are required therefore to be placed in an envelope. The latter must be sealed and this requires a two cent stamp.

A large number of cards of the tinsel variety are now held in the local postoffice and will shortly be forwarded to the dead letter office in Washington, D. C.

COUNTY SUPPLIES AWARD TO BE MADE

County Commissioners Adjourn Until Next Tuesday When Bids Will be Received

ELECTION CLAIMS TAKEN UP

The county commissioners adjourned yesterday to meet again next Tuesday. At that time the contract for the county printing and court house supplies will be let. So far only two companies have sent for application blanks intending to submit bids. Both of these are firms from out of the city.

The commissioners took up the election claims yesterday. The total expense of the last election has not yet been totaled. In almost every case the commissioners changed the bills to conform with those two years ago. The bills were either cut or raised. The inspectors in all precincts were allowed pay for four days, and the judges and clerks were allowed pay for two days. In several instances the inspectors submitted bills for more than four days and in other cases the bills were for less. In cases where the amounts were for less than four days the inspectors did not allow for a day in coming after their supplies and a day for returning them.

REBELLION LEADER'S HORRIBLE DEATH

Head of South African Loyalists is Lost in Surging Torrent When Shot From Horse.

DESPERATE BATTLE FOUGHT

(By United Press.)

Pretoria, Dec. 9.—General Christian Frederick Beyers, leader of the South African rebellion, is dead. With this official announcement today came the story of his terrible death while trying to escape from Loyalists' troops that had overtaken him and fifty of his followers on the banks of the Vaal river. They had been pursued since Saturday. Yesterday they were overtaken. The captain of the pursuing troop demanded their surrender but they promptly refused and prepared to make a last stand. There was sharp fighting. Beyers and others plunged their horses into the river, trying to escape, but in mid stream the general was shot from his mount. He grasped the tail of another horse but this animal began to drift rapidly down stream. General Beyers could be heard calling loudly for help but disappeared during the fighting in which his men were trying to make his escape possible. His body was not recovered.

NO COMPLIMENTS FOR CITY

Honeywell Was Warned By Sunday Regarding Vincennes

(By United Press.)

Vincennes, Ind., Dec. 9.—The Rev. I. E. Honeywell who is conducting a revival here has no compliments for Vincennes. He says that this city has a bad name and quoted Billy Sunday to prove it. Sunday wrote him he said naming Vincennes as one of the four "worst cities in the country." Mr. Honeywell says, that while at Winona Lake this summer he said he contemplated going to Vincennes and that the advice he got from all sides was "Don't go."

SAVINGS CLUB CHECKS MAILED

Members of Christmas Fund Will Receive Their Year's Accumulation Tomorrow

500 PERSONS IN THE CLUB

Savings Will Aggregate Fourteen Thousand Dollars—Specially Designed Checks

The Peoples Loan & Trust company today mailed checks to members of its Christmas Savings club and most of the checks may be expected on the Thursday morning mail. There were approximately five hundred persons in the club this year and their savings will aggregate about fourteen thousand dollars.

The last year is the first experience Rushville ever had with a Christmas Savings club, although the plan has been worked with success in a number of Indiana cities, notably Shelbyville and Columbus.

The checks which members of the club will receive tomorrow are of special design. They bear Christmas colors and are suggestive of the season for which the club is named. The checks range in amount from only a few cents to several dollars.

The experience of trust companies and other financial institutions throughout the country which have had Christmas Savings clubs, has been that the idea has had a generous and ready response on the part of the people. While the average savings may not be very large, in the aggregate several thousands of dollars are accumulated and made available for the Christmas season.

The value of the Christmas Savings clubs in communities where they have been tried for several years has been found to be very great. It is invariably the rule that the checks are always distributed a few weeks before Christmas when people generally find funds the lowest. But in the season when they have purchases to make.

In many places the funds from the clubs have been found to rejuvenate trade and have made themselves felt in business channels. The turning loose on a community such as Rushville's of $14,000 on a given day, it is advocated, is bound to be noticeable because its influence will be felt in all lines of trade. Many members of these clubs use their savings or a part of them as a nucleus of a permanent savings fund and it thus becomes the foundation of a larger accumulation.

The Christmas Savings club system is patented. Those using it must pay for doing so as well as for the extra cost of supplies, all of which makes a considerable expense. The club for 1915 will begin December 21, 1914, and persons desiring to join may take out cards any time before that date.

FIRST SANTA LETTER.

The first Santa Claus letter has been received by the Daily Republican. More will be forthcoming, doubtless, as is the rule about Christmas time, and they will all be gladly published. We have placed Santa Claus on our mailing list and you may depend on it that he reads all the newspapers about this time to get up on what's going on. Here's the way the first one reads:

PORTOLA IS CLOSED AGAIN

This Time Quincy Lyons is Loser in Venture.

The Portola theater is closed once more. This time Quincy Lyons, formerly of Connersville, is the loser. The place did not open for business Monday night and it is not known where Mr. Lyons has gone as he did not put in an appearance there yesterday. The Portola has had a stormy time since it was opened about three years ago. Lyons was operating the place only by the month and it is believed that he could not make it pay. Lyons had a partner in the business the last few weeks. His name was Joe Caffey.
